Message from the President

The 77 Bank aims to be the “best regional bank,” one that grows along with its customers and is committed to the sustainable development of the region.

Hiroshi Kamata, President

Japan's economic recovery was gradual but unmistakable in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2005. But this positive aspect was tarnished slightly by developments, such as sluggish exports and the skyrocketing price of oil, which required corrections to anticipated fiscal results for many companies.

In Miyagi Prefecture, the primary base of operations for The 77 Bank, the local economy also experienced a slowdown in demand, as weaker production trends paralleled a lackluster business climate.

The earnings environment for financial institutions remained challenging, owing to persistently low interest rates and decelerating demand for funds. But the industry welcomed a clearer direction in its future activities, as the chapter on nonperforming assets, which had plagued the entire financial industry for so long, finally came to a close and attention shifted from stabilization of the financial system to its revitalization.

With the April 2005 completion of the pay-off system, financial institutions have become more vulnerable to the power of selection by existing and potential clients. Indeed, the spotlight on sound management and enhanced profitability is far more intense than it once was, and financial institutions are duty-bound to respond quickly and honestly in full public view.

Meanwhile, the Financial Services Agency initiated an action plan aimed at reinforcing the relationship banking function of regional financial institutions. This plan requires local institutions to work harder to fulfill their social obligations to local communities, particularly in the area of easier lending processes for small and mid-sized businesses and the introduction of services with added convenience for clients.

Challenge 400: Core Business Profit of ¥40 Billion

The 77 Bank seeks to be a bank that provides the utmost value to shareholders, clients and the region as a whole and one that supports the local activities of people and businesses. Underpinning this enduring mission is a new medium-term business plan—Challenge 400, a four-year effort launched in April 2005.

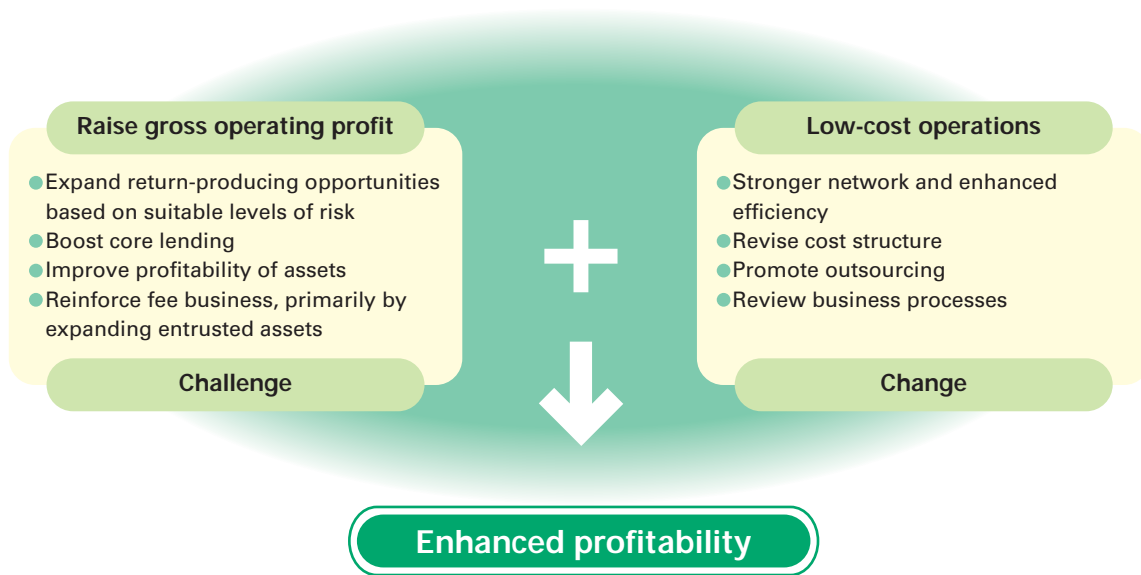

The ultimate goal of Challenge 400—¥40 billion in core business profit by March 2009—has been embraced by everyone at the Bank. Our plan will enable us to take a long-term perspective on certain issues and formulate successful solutions. It will also facilitate the implementation of vital strategies. The end result will be higher profitability and a solid business platform for growth.

The 77 Bank's approach to business emphasizes strong ties to local citizens and businesses. This attitude embodies our desire to be the “best regional bank,” one that grows along with our clients and is committed to the sustainable development of the region.

Business Topics

Our biggest priority during the course of the new medium-term management plan is to identify a direction that leads to greater profitability. The signposts along this route will be maintaining a healthy financial position, raising return-producing assets based on suitable levels of risks, and improving management efficiency.

Overcoming obstacles along the way, we will boost gross operating profit and establish a low-cost operating structure. We will become a bank that can post stable profits regardless of the challenges that loom as obstacles in our path.

Basic Policies

1. Redouble efforts to elicit a steady rise in gross operating profit and create a low-cost structure

The Bank will steadily increase gross operating profit by strengthening core lending operations and raising the profitability of assets to expand the return on capital; and by improving the return on banking services through a heightened focus on attracting more assets from clients. In tandem with these activities, the Bank will enhance profitability by promoting the establishment of a low-cost structure.

2. Cement strong relationships with shareholders, clients and the region

For shareholders, the Bank will bolster shareholder value by improving profitability and maintaining a sound financial position.

For clients, the Bank will increase its value by raising levels of client satisfaction and striving always to be their No. 1 choice.

For the region as a whole, the Bank will cement its solid business footing in the community and strive to contribute to the area through its full range of banking services.

1. Strengthen operating capabilities to boost loans and expand assets from clients.
2. Improve operating efficiency, hinging on enhanced fund application skills and a revised cost structure.
3. Maintain a healthy financial position by fortifying credit risk management and maintaining suitable returns.
4. Reinforce internal controls, including better-defined compliance efforts.

Tighter Bonds with the Community

A regional bank is the driving force behind the circulation of funds in the community, and to fulfill this responsibility a regional bank must strive to promote activities that strengthen its ability to vitalize the local economy and facilitate financing to small and mid-sized companies based in its operating area.

The financial services provided by The 77 Bank hinge on a relationship of trust between the Bank and local clients as well as the wider community. These services and smooth access to funds underpins growth for all concerned: clients benefit, as does the Bank, and ultimately, the region as well.

We will lay a cornerstone of trust in the community and cement it into place by consistently seeking to enhance our transactions with clients and offering high-value-added services that address the needs of clients and highlight the characteristics of the community at large. In addition, we will ensure highly transparent management by reinforcing corporate governance and undertake active and ongoing disclosure of pertinent management information.

Corporate Governance Status

The 77 Bank has always emphasized management priorities that serve to build a better business administration structure. Concerted efforts have been directed toward strengthening the capabilities of the Board of Directors, fortifying its compliance and risk management systems, and reinforcing auditing activities by inviting outside auditors to sit on the Board of Auditors.

The Board of Directors is responsible for decisions on pertinent issues related to operations, while the Executive Committee discusses important business matters and determines courses of action within the power granted to it by the Board of Directors.

The Bank maintains an auditor system under which three of the five auditors on the Board of Auditors—a majority—are outside auditors, a composition that raises the effectiveness of internal audits. Auditors check that the actions of directors are appropriate and effective by attending Board of Directors' meetings and issuing opinion statements on discussions and decisions made at these meetings.

The 77 Bank emphasizes clarity and integrity in its compliance efforts, a stance underpinned by Basic Policies for Compliance, drafted by the Board of Directors. The Bank applies Basic Policies for Risk Management, also drafted by the Board of Directors, to maintain a solid risk management system that promotes stable, long-lasting growth as a regional bank.

Tier 1 Capital Ratio

The Tier 1 capital ratio is based only on Tier 1. It excludes supplementary items, such as subordinated loans, from the current components that are used to determine the capital adequacy ratio and therefore better represents the financial status of a bank, compared with the capital adequacy ratio, which includes supplementary items.

The Tier 1 capital ratio for The 77 Bank reached 10.41% on a non-consolidated basis, as at March 31, 2005, considerably higher than the average for the 55 regional banks that apply the domestic standard. This statistic places the Bank among the top performers in this sector of the banking industry.

The Bank's non-consolidated capital adequacy ratio, excluding tax effects, reached 9.12%, and its Tier 1 ratio amounted to 8.49% at March 31, 2005. The composition of total capital indicates the Bank's continued financial stability.

Ratings

Ratings are granted by rating agencies, which assume a third-party perspective in assessing the financial status of businesses. The results are disclosed to the market. Ratings include a long-term rating, which targets such instruments as deposits and bonds with maturity periods exceeding one year; a short-term rating, which targets such instruments as deposits and debentures with maturity periods under one year; and a financial position rating, which evaluates the fiscal status of a bank.

The 77 Bank has acquired ratings from two domestic rating agencies that are among the highest of any Japanese financial institution.

Risk-Management Structure

Sophisticated Techniques Based on Sound Principles

Rapidly changing conditions in the financial sector have significantly transformed the operating environment for financial institutions and caused the risk that surrounds financial institutions to become comparatively more complex than in the past. These conditions demand that financial institutions execute even more accurate identification and analysis of risks, and take appropriate control of such risks.

The 77 Bank works to reinforce overall risk management with improved business health in mind. The Bank is also enhancing management processes through, for example, the introduction of more sophisticated risk-quantification techniques and feedback on each aspect of business.

The Bank established the Basic Policy for Risk-Management for comprehensive risk-management activities to serve as the foundation of a solid risk-management structure, with appropriate risk-hedging approaches that promote steady and sustainable development. This policy defines risk management, clarifies decision-making authority on risk-management issues and the role of the Board of Directors in this process, and outlines the structure and objectives of supervisory units that handle each type of risk.

Roles of the Bank's Risk-Management Units

The 77 Bank has classified risk into seven categories—credit risk, market risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, system risk, outsourcing risk and other—and assigned supervisory units to each risk category. The General Planning & Coordination Division is responsible for the comprehensive risk-management system. However, each risk category is also overseen by dedicated divisions: the Risk Management Division for market risk and liquidity risk; the Operations Administration Division for operational risk; the System Development Division for system risk; the Operations Administration Division and System Development Division together for outsourcing risk; and credit risk under the supervision of both the Risk Management Division and the Credit Supervision Division.

As a supervisory unit, the Risk Management Division tracks all risk and monitors risk quantity. These efforts are augmented by the ALM Committee, which comprises division general managers and directors responsible for operations in the assigned division. Every month, the committee discusses measures to hedge market and liquidity risk. Other contingency risks, such as reputational risk and natural disasters, are managed appropriately by the assigned division as each risk is identified.

The Audit & Inspection Division is independent of the business promotion units and risk-management units, as the evaluating unit for internal processes and asset status. The Audit & Inspection Division assesses the risk-management positions of each division and branch as well as those of group companies more than once a year. The Bank also separated the nature of its audits into two categories: a comprehensive audit for internal management systems, including compliance, governance and management systems for operational, credit and system risk; and inspection of cash and cash equivalents for the prevention of illegality. In addition, the Bank undergoes external audits, performed by outside auditors, to further consolidate the internal management structure.

Compliance

In 1999, The 77 Bank formulated Basic Policies for Compliance to function as principles for clarifying responsibilities for compliance and ensuring appropriate actions to compliance issues. The Bank also established Compliance Guidelines, a publication that provides executives and employees with concrete procedures for dealing with laws and other compliance-related issues and outlines acceptable standards of ethical conduct.

Basic Policies for Compliance

1. Fundamental Concepts

- i. The Board of Directors recognizes that full adherence to laws and other compliance issues is a vital requirement of business. The Board therefore put together a set of corporate ethics that underscores the Bank's social responsibility and public duty, and does its best to ensure that all members of the Bank uphold these standards of conduct.
- ii. The Board reviews compliance programs annually and implements new measures, based on progress achieved in the previous year.
- iii. If behavior contrary to stated compliance measures should occur, the Bank will take appropriate steps, based on laws or in-house rules, such as the Work Regulations, and will swiftly adopt the countermeasures required to safeguard the health of the Bank's business.

2. Establishing a Solid Compliance Structure

- i. The Bank ensures a smooth response to compliance issues through the timely and suitable introduction of organizational systems and in-house rules.
- ii. The Bank gathers the necessary legal information, such as amendments to laws, concerning compliance and adjusts in-house rules accordingly.

Compliance Guidelines

Basic Direction

- i. Ensure sound management and pay the utmost attention to sustaining the Bank's credibility and its ability to extend smooth financing.
- ii. Comply with laws and rules for corporate conduct, and maintain fair and honest practices.
- iii. Apply considered principles to issues that threaten social order or public peace.
- iv. Provide financial services that customers and the community trust, and develop sustainably together with them.
- v. Foster an open office atmosphere and promote a healthy workplace environment.

Compliance Structure

Thorough compliance to laws and rules for corporate conduct is essential for a financial institution if it is to uphold its social responsibility and public duty, and maintain the trust of clients and the region in which it operates.

From this perspective, The 77 Bank established the Legal Affairs Office in 1998 to monitor legal compliance. Following subsequent organizational reforms, the authority of the Legal Affairs Office was supplanted by the Legal Affairs Section of the Risk Management Division, which now tracks the status of legal compliance. The President is the director ultimately responsible for legal compliance. He is supported by the general manager of the Risk Management Division, who supervises inspections, and the head of the Legal Affairs Section, who acts as a compliance officer. Each division and branch is assigned a compliance officer and other oversight personnel, who undertake regular inspections to ascertain compliance status.

The 77 Bank also advocates measures to preclude inappropriate behavior or legal errors. The Bank encourages greater awareness of laws and other compliance issues among executives and employees, and strives to foster a deeper understanding of pertinent laws.

In June 2005, the Bank established the Compliance Committee, of which the President is chairman, to further strengthen the compliance structure.

Growing with the Community

The State of Miyagi Prefecture Economy

Miyagi Prefecture, the primary base of operations for The 77 Bank, is located in the southeast corner of the Tohoku region. The prefecture is an important crossroads linking Tohoku to Tokyo, the nation's capital.

In 1989, Sendai, the prefectural capital, became the 11th city in Japan specially designated by ordinance. The higher profile encouraged major national businesses and organizations, including government agencies, to set up branches and offices in Sendai, thereby turning the city into an urban hub of the Tohoku region.

In terms of major economic indicators, such as population, gross prefectural product and retail trade amount, Miyagi Prefecture is ranked around 15 out of Japan's 47 prefectures. The prefecture contributes slightly less than 2% to national totals.

Miyagi Prefecture is working steadily to establish an industrial infrastructure, such as an improved transportation network to connect the region better to other prefectures as well as to places abroad.

Composition of Gross Domestic Product by Industry (Nominal)

Consolidated Performance for Fiscal 2005

THE 77 BANK, LTD. AND SUBSIDIARIES
Years ended March 31

Financial and Economic Conditions

The domestic economic environment in fiscal 2005, ended March 31, 2005, was characterized by sustained recovery, despite adjustments in the information technology sector.

A similar improvement in economic conditions was experienced in Miyagi Prefecture, the primary base of operations for The 77 Bank, but certain developments, particularly a drop in production levels, prompted concern about a possible slowdown.

Against this backdrop, long-term interest rates rose, albeit temporarily, while short-term interest rates stayed at extremely low levels, mirroring the ongoing application of a quantitative financial relaxation policy by the Bank of Japan.

Expectations of a rosier domestic business climate buoyed stock prices, but this positive development was dampened by difficulties in foreign exchange markets, triggered by fears over rising interest rates in the United States and the effect on corporate and national deficits.

Consolidated Business Results

Deposits, including negotiable deposits, grew 2.1%, to ¥5,043.6 billion, a change largely supported by higher deposits from individuals. The Bank continued to stress measures to promote loans locally, especially to small and mid-sized businesses and to individuals, and encountered slightly better demand for funds this year as economic conditions rallied. Loans and bills discounted increased 2.7%, to ¥3,202.8 billion. In the Bank's investment portfolio, investment securities jumped 11.9%, to ¥1,923.2 billion.

Total assets as of March 31, 2005, stood at ¥5,616.2 billion, up 3.9%.

On the profit and loss front, efforts to cut expenses and enhance fund application and procurement were again eclipsed by the challenges of the operating environment.

Total income fell 6.1%, to ¥112.9 billion, while total expenses inched up 0.8%, to ¥96.4 billion.

These results, along with an extraordinary loss from write down of premises—an amount based on self-assessment standards—that overshadowed an extraordinary gain following revision of the employees' pension plan in the previous fiscal year, caused net income to drop 26.7%, to ¥9.0 billion. Net income per share fell to ¥23.65.

The Bank's capital adequacy ratio rebounded 0.45 percentage point, to 11.23%, as calculated to the domestic standard.

In a breakdown of performance by business segment, banking operations provided total income of ¥94.3 billion, down 1.3%, largely because of the continuing negative impact of prolonged low interest rates on investment returns. Ordinary income improved 1.5%, to ¥16.8 billion, thanks to a successful reduction in expenses.

In leasing operations, total income rose 4.5%, to ¥16.9 billion, and ordinary income climbed 3.7%, to ¥909 million.

In other operations, including credit card operations, total income dipped 0.5%, to ¥5.2 billion, and ordinary income declined 40.6%, to ¥443 million.

In regard to cash flow, cash provided by operating activities soared 91.9%, to ¥257.7 billion, owing to an increase in deposits, including negotiable deposits, and a substantial decrease in call loans. Net cash used in investing activities skyrocketed 95.1%, to ¥203.2 billion, reflecting new purchases of investment securities and lower proceeds on sales of and maturity of investment securities. Net cash used in financing activities retreated 81.5%, to ¥2.3 billion, primarily because of additional reductions in repayment of subordinated loans with special conditions.

Consequently, cash and cash equivalents as at March 31, 2005, amounted to ¥218.9 billion, a solid improvement of 31.1%.

Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

THE 77 BANK, LTD. AND SUBSIDIARIES
Years ended March 31, 2005 and 2004

1. Basis of Presenting Consolidated Financial Statements

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the provisions set forth in the Japanese Securities and Exchange Law and its related accounting regulations and the Enforcement Regulation for the Banking Law of Japan, and in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in Japan, which are different in certain respects as to application and disclosure requirements of International Financial Reporting Standards.

In preparing these consolidated financial statements, certain reclassifications and rearrangements have been made to the consolidated financial statements issued domestically in order to present them in a form which is more familiar to readers outside Japan. In addition, certain reclassifications and rearrangements have been made in the 2004 financial statements to conform to the classifications and presentations in 2005.

In conformity with the Japanese Commercial Code (the "Code") and the other relevant regulations, all Japanese yen figures in the consolidated financial statements have been rounded down to the nearest million yen, except for per share data. Accordingly, the total of each account may not be equal to the combined total of individual items.

The consolidated financial statements are stated in Japanese yen, the currency of the country in which The 77 Bank, Ltd. (the "Bank") is incorporated and operates. The translation of Japanese yen amounts into U.S. dollar amounts is included solely for the convenience of readers outside Japan and has been made at the rate of ¥107.39 to U.S.$1, the approximate rate of exchange at March 31, 2005. Such translation should not be construed as representation that the Japanese yen amounts could be converted into U.S. dollars at that or any other rate.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

a. Consolidation—The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Bank and its subsidiaries (together, the "Companies"). The number of consolidated subsidiaries as of March 31, 2005 and 2004 was seven companies.

Under the control or influence concept, those companies in which the Bank, directly or indirectly, is able to exercise control over operations are fully consolidated, and those companies over which the Companies have the ability to exercise significant influence are accounted for by the equity method.

All significant intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. All material unrealized profits and losses resulting from transactions within the Companies is eliminated.

b. Cash and Cash Equivalents—For the purpose of the consolidated statements of cash flows, cash and cash equivalents represent cash and amounts due from The Bank of Japan.

c. Trading Account Securities, Investment Securities and Money Held in Trust—Securities other than investments in affiliates are classified into three categories, based principally on the companies' intent, as follows:

(1) trading account securities which are held for the purpose of earning capital gains in the near term are reported at fair value, and the related unrealized gains and losses are included in earnings,

(2) held-to-maturity debt securities, which are expected to be held to maturity with the positive intent and ability to hold to maturity are reported at amortized cost, and

(3) available-for-sale securities, which are not classified as either of the aforementioned securities, are reported at fair value, with unrealized gains and losses, net of applicable taxes, reported in a separate component of stockholders' equity.

The cost of trading account securities and available-for-sale securities sold is determined based on the moving-average method.

Non-marketable available-for-sale securities are reported at cost or amortized cost determined by the moving-average method.

For other than temporary declines in fair value, investment securities are reduced to net realizable value by a charge to income.

Securities included in money held in trust are also classified and accounted for by the same method as above.

The components of trust assets are accounted for based on the standard appropriate for each asset type. Instruments held in trust for trading purposes are recorded at fair value and unrealized gains and losses are recorded in other income/expenses. Instruments held in trust classified as available-for-sale are recorded at fair value with the corresponding unrealized gains/losses recorded directly in a separate component of stockholders' equity. Instruments held in trust classified as held to maturity are carried at amortized cost.

d. Lease Assets—Lease assets included in other assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation of lease assets is mainly computed by the straight-line method over lease periods.

e. Premises and Equipment—Premises and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and gains deferred on the sale and replacement of certain assets. Depreciation of premises and equipment is mainly computed by the declining-balance method at rates based on the estimated useful lives of the assets. The range of useful lives is principally from 5 to 31 years for buildings, and from 5 to 20 years for equipment.

f. Software—Capitalized cost of computer software developed/obtained for internal use is amortized by the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of 5 years.

g. Foreign Currency Items—Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies held by the Bank at the year end are translated into Japanese yen at the current exchange rates in effect at each balance sheet date. Exchange gains and losses are recognized in the fiscal periods in which they occur.

Prior to April 1, 2003, the Bank accounted for fund swap and certain currency swap transactions on an accrual basis by applying one-year transitional treatment provided in Industry Audit Committee Report No. 25 issued by the Japanese Institute of Certified Public Accountants (the "JICPA") on July 29, 2002.

Fund swap transactions are foreign exchange swaps, and consist of spot foreign exchange contracts bought or sold and forward foreign exchange contracts sold or bought. Such transactions are contracted for the purpose of lending or borrowing in a different currency. Fund swap transactions are used to convert the principal equivalent amount into spot foreign exchange contracts bought or sold with regard to the corresponding fund borrowing or lending. Such transactions convert the corresponding principal equivalents and foreign currency equivalents to pay and receive, whose amounts and due dates are predetermined at the time of the transactions, into forward foreign exchange contracts bought or sold.

Effective April 1, 2003, these swap transactions are accounted for using deferral hedge accounting by fully applying Industry Audit Committee Report No. 25. Under deferral hedge accounting, hedged items are identified by grouping the foreign currency-dominated financial assets and liabilities by currencies and designating derivative transactions such as currency swap transactions and forward exchange contracts as hedging instruments. Hedge effectiveness is reviewed by comparing the total foreign currency position of the hedged items and hedging instruments by currency.

As a result of the application of this new accounting standard, other assets and other liabilities decreased by ¥21 million as of March 31, 2004, as compared to what they would have been under the previous method. The application of the new accounting standard did not affect the Companies' results of operations.

Also as a result of the application of this accounting standard, unrealized gains and losses for foreign currency forward transactions that were previously presented on a net basis are now recorded on a gross basis as derivative financial instruments in other assets and other liabilities. This change resulted in increase of other assets and other liabilities, as of March 31, 2004, of ¥197 million.

h. Reserve for Loan Losses—The Bank determines the amount of the reserve for loan losses by means of management's judgment and assessment of future losses based on a self-assessment system. This system reflects past experience of credit losses, possible credit losses, business and economic conditions, the character, quality and performance of the portfolio, and other pertinent indicators.

The Bank implemented the self-assessment system for its asset quality. The quality of all loans is assessed by branches and the credit supervisory division with a subsequent audit by the Bank's asset review and inspection division in accordance with the Bank's policy and rules for self-assessment of asset quality.

The Bank has established a credit rating system under which its customers are classified into five categories. The credit rating system is used for self-assessment of asset quality. All loans are classified into five categories for self-assessment purposes such as "normal," "caution," "possible bankruptcy," "virtual bankruptcy" and "legal bankruptcy."

The reserve for loan losses is calculated based on the specific actual past loss ratio for normal and caution categories, and the fair value of the collateral for collateral-dependent loans and other factors of solvency including value of future cash flows for other self-assessment categories.

The subsidiaries determine the reserve for possible loan losses by a similar self-assessment system to that of the Bank.

i. Employees' Retirement and Pension Plans—The Bank and certain subsidiaries have contributory funded pension plans and unfunded retirement benefit plans for employees which cover approximately 75% and 25%, respectively, of their benefits. Other subsidiaries have unfunded retirement benefit plans.

The liability for employees' retirement benefits is provided for the payment of employees' retirement benefits based on estimated amounts of the actuarial retirement benefit obligation and the related pension assets. Net actuarial gain (loss) is amortized using the straight-line method over 10 years commencing from the next fiscal year of incurrence, while prior service costs are all charged to income in the fiscal year incurred.

Effective October 1, 2003, the Bank amended its pension plans designs. In particular, the additional portion of employee pension fund reduced the pension liability by lowering expected interest rate and transferring to cash balance pension plans.

The effect of this amendment was to increase income before income taxes and minority interests by ¥6,447 million for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, with the effect of a reversal of prior service cost.

This ¥6,447 million is also shown in Note 18 presented as amortization of prior service benefit in the table of net periodic benefit costs.

j. Leases—All leases are accounted for as operating leases. Under Japanese accounting standards for leases, finance leases that deem to transfer ownership of the leased property to the lessee are to be capitalized, while other finance leases are permitted to be accounted for as operating lease transactions if certain "as if capitalized" information is disclosed in the notes to the consolidated financial statements.

k. Income Taxes—The provision for income taxes is computed based on the pretax income included in the consolidated statements of income. The asset and liability approach is used to recognize deferred tax assets and liabilities for the expected future tax consequences of temporary differences between the carrying amounts and the tax bases of assets and liabilities. Deferred taxes are measured by applying currently enacted tax laws to the temporary differences.

l. Appropriations of Retained Earnings—Appropriations of retained earnings at each year end are reflected in the consolidated financial statements for the following year upon stockholders' approval.

m. Derivatives and Hedging Activities—It is the Bank's policy to use derivative financial instruments ("derivatives") primarily for the purpose of reducing market risks associated with its assets and liabilities. The Bank also utilizes derivatives to meet the needs of its clients while entering into derivatives as a part of its trading activities. The Bank enters into interest rate swaps and interest rate caps as a means of hedging its interest rate risk on certain loans and investment securities. The Bank also enters into interest rate swaps, foreign exchange forward contracts and currency options to hedge exchange risk associated with its assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies and to meet the needs of its clients. Furthermore, the Bank enters into interest rate futures, bond futures, bond future options and foreign exchange forward contracts for a short term as part of its trading activities.

Derivatives are recognized as either assets or liabilities and measured at fair value. Gains or losses on derivative transactions are recognized in the consolidated statements of income. If derivatives qualify for hedge accounting because of high correlation and effectiveness between the hedging instruments and the hedged items, gains or losses on derivatives are deferred until maturity of the hedged transactions.

The interest rate swaps which qualify for hedge accounting and meet specific matching criteria are not remeasured at market value, but the differential paid or received under the swap agreements are recognized and included in interest expenses or income.

Until fiscal year ended March 31, 2003, the Bank applied a “macro hedge” approach to interest rate risk and its ALM activities based on the transitional treatment prescribed in Industry Audit Committee Report No. 24 issued by the JICPA. The effectiveness of the macro hedge approach was reviewed for a reduction in interest rate risk exposure and the actual risk amount of derivatives within the preapproved limit under the Bank’s risk control policies. However, as of March 31, 2003, there were no transactions remaining for the macro hedge approach to be applied.

Effective April 1, 2003, the Bank adopted portfolio hedging in accordance with Industry Audit Committee Report No. 24. Under portfolio hedging, a group of financial assets or liabilities such as loans or deposits, with common maturities, were matched with a group of hedging instruments such as interest rate swaps, with intent of offsetting fair value fluctuations. The effectiveness of the portfolio hedge is accessed by each group.

However, the Bank had no transaction to apply portfolio hedging approach as of March 2005 and 2004.

n. Per Share Information—Basic net income per share is computed by dividing net income available to common stockholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding for the period, retroactively adjusted for stock splits.

The basic net income available to common stockholders and weighted-average number of common shares used in the computation were ¥8,993 million ($83,742 thousand) and 380,150 thousand shares for 2005 and ¥12,287 million and 380,204 thousand shares for 2004, respectively.

Diluted net income per share reflects the potential dilution that could occur if securities were exercised or converted into common stock. Diluted net income per share of common stock is not disclosed because there are no outstanding potentially dilutive securities.

Cash dividends per share presented in the consolidated statements of income are dividends applicable to the respective years including dividends to be paid after the end of the year.

o. New Accounting Pronouncements—In August 2002, the Business Accounting Council issued a Statement of Opinion, “Accounting for Impairment of Fixed Assets,” and in October 2003 the Accounting Standards Board of Japan (“ASB”) issued ASB Guidance No. 6, “Guidance for Accounting Standard for Impairment of Fixed Assets.” These new pronouncements are effective for fiscal years beginning on or after April 1, 2005 with early adoption permitted for fiscal years ending on or after March 31, 2004.

The new accounting standard requires an entity to review its long-lived assets for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset or asset group may not be recoverable. An impairment loss would be recognized if the carrying amount of an asset or asset group exceeds the sum of the undiscounted future cash flows expected to result from the continued use and eventual disposition of the asset or asset group. The impairment loss would be measured as the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its recoverable amount, which is the higher of the discounted cash flows from the continued use and eventual disposition of the asset or the net selling price at disposition.

The Companies expect to adopt these pronouncements as of April 1, 2005 and are currently in the process of assessing the effect of adoption of these pronouncements.

3. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Most of these contracts have conditions that the Companies can refuse customers' application of loan or decrease the contract limits with proper reasons (e.g., changes in financial situation, deterioration in customers' credit-worthiness). At the inception of contracts, the Companies obtain collateral real estate, securities, etc. if considered to be necessary. Subsequently, the Companies perform periodic review of the customers' business results based on internal rules and take necessary measures to reconsider conditions in contracts and require additional collateral and guarantees.

16. Stockholders' Equity

Japanese banks are subject to the Code and to the Japanese Banking Law (the "Banking Law").

The Code requires that all shares of common stock are recorded with no par value and at least 50% of the issue price of new shares is required to be recorded as common stock and the remaining net proceeds as additional paid-in capital, which is included in capital surplus. The Code permits Japanese companies, upon approval of the Board of Directors, to issue shares to existing stockholders without consideration as a stock split. Such issuance of shares generally does not give rise to changes within the stockholders' accounts.

The Banking Law provides that an amount at least 20% of the aggregate amount of cash dividends and certain other appropriations of retained earnings associated with cash outlays applicable to each period, shall be appropriated and set aside as a legal reserve (a component of retained earnings) until such reserve and additional paid-in capital equals 100% of common stock. The amount of total additional paid-in capital and legal reserve which exceeds 100% of common stock may be available for dividends by resolution of the stockholders. In addition, the Code permits the transfer of a portion of additional paid-in capital and legal reserve to the common stock by resolution of the Board of Directors. The Bank's legal reserve amount, which is included in retained earnings, totals ¥24,658 million ($229,617 thousand) and ¥24,658 million as of March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

The Code allows Japanese companies to repurchase treasury stock and dispose of such treasury stock by resolution of the Board of Directors. The repurchased amount of treasury stock cannot exceed the amount available for future dividends plus amount of common stock, additional paid-in capital or legal reserve to be reduced in the case where reduction was resolved at the general stockholders meeting.

In addition to the provision that requires an appropriation for a legal reserve in connection with the cash payment, the Code imposes certain limitations on the amount of retained earnings available for dividends. The amount of retained earnings available for dividends under the Code was ¥216,228 million ($2,013,492 thousand) as of March 31, 2005, based on the amount recorded in the parent company's general books of account.

Dividends are approved by the stockholders at a meeting held subsequent to the fiscal year to which the dividends are applicable. Semiannual interim dividends may also be paid upon resolution of the Board of Directors, subject to certain limitations imposed by the Code.

23. Derivatives

It is the Bank's policy to use derivatives primarily for the purpose of reducing market risks associated with its assets and liabilities. The Bank also utilizes derivatives to meet the needs of its clients while entering into derivatives as a part of its trading activities.

The Bank enters into interest rate swaps and interest rate caps as a means of hedging its interest rate risk on certain loans and investment securities.

The Bank also enters into foreign exchange forward contracts and currency options to hedge foreign exchange risk associated with its assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies and to meet the needs of its clients.

Furthermore, the Bank enters into interest rate futures, bond futures, bond future options and foreign exchange forward contracts for a short term as part of its trading activities.

Derivatives are subject to market risk and credit risk. Market risk is the exposure created by potential fluctuations of market conditions, including interest or foreign exchange rates. Credit risk is the possibility that a loss may result from a counterparty's failure to perform its obligations under a contract.

The Bank sets limits to credit risk by limiting the counterparties to those derivatives to major financial institutions and securities companies, and establishing maximum risk exposures to the counterparties.

In accordance with the Banking Law requirements of the capital adequacy ratio, credit risk equivalent which was measured using the current exposure method amounted to ¥1,598 million ($14,885 thousand) and ¥3,684 million at March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

The Bank has established a standard of risk management including management approaches to each type of risks. Derivative transactions entered into by the Bank have been made in accordance with internal policies which regulate trading activities and credit risk management including maximum risk exposures and loss-cutting rules. Concerning risk management associated with derivative transactions, the front and back offices of the trading divisions are clearly separated, and risk managers are assigned to the trading divisions, while the Risk Management Division synthetically manages the Bank's market risks. In this manner, an internal control system is effectively secured.

The Bank's positions, gain-and-loss, risk amount and other conditions are periodically reported to the executive committee.
